The delinquent taxes of Humboldt county, including a special tax levied for school purposes, amounts to $1,173 18. That's a good showing for Humboldt.

The Court of Humboldt county has appointed Wednesday, January 18, 1888, as the day for the execution of One-arm Jim, convicted of the murder of Andrew Kinnegar at Willow Creek, in August, 1886.

The Susanville Advocate says the residence of Albert E. Ross, in Long Valley, is without exception the finest to be found in Lassen county. It is in every respect as complete and elegant as any in the larger cities.

It is now said that evidence has been secured to corroborate the statement that "Doc" Harlan was killed in a struggle with Hattie Woolsten, near Los Angeles, to secure a pistol and that the killing was accidental.

The following taxes were paid into Eureka county by the railroad companies for 1887: The Eureka & Palisade Company paid $12,033 84, and the Central Pacific Company paid $15,783 53, making a total of $27,817 27.

Mrs. Livingstone, who was provided with means by Eureka county to go to Reno a week or two since, returned to Eureka last Tuesday. It appears that she expected to find her married daughter at this place, but was disappointed, her daughter having gone with her husband to Montana.

INDIANS RESTIVE.—The Winnemucca Silver State says One-arm Jim's Indian friends in the northern part of Humboldt county are showing symptoms of displeasure over the action of the pale-faces in his case. Jim, as is well known, murdered a white man without provocation, so far as is known. He had an impartial trial and was found guilty of murder. The Board of Pardons refused to commute his sentence, and the Supreme Court affirmed the judgment of the trial court. But Indians care nothing for courts and only look at results. They now understand that he is to be executed in January, in fact, we are informed, that his brother up in Quinn River Valley knew what his fate was to be the day after the Court fixed the day for his execution. This brother, who is known among the whites as "Old Horse," is a captain or leading man among the Quinn River Putes. He walked from McDermit to Willow Creek the night that he learned that Jim is to be hanged, and held a consultation with other members of his tribe; what, if anything, they proposed doing is not known to the whites, but from their actions it is surmised that they may cause trouble.

THE RAILROAD SHOPS.—Orders were received at the Southern Pacific shops in Sacramento Saturday for twenty-eight new engines. Of an old order for thirty-seven engines, sixteen remain to be made, leaving forty-four monster loco motives to be constructed as soon as possible. Two thousand men are now employed at the shops, and the number would be doubled if the capacity of the buildings would allow. When Senator Stanford was last in Sacramento he declared the works must be enlarged, and that when he returns from Washington he will give the filling of China enough his personal attention. The company is having 1,000 freight cars built at its Sacramento shops to relieve the strain on its rolling-stock, which is now very short of the required amount necessary for the satisfactory transaction of business. Six hundred freight cars are also being built for the railroad company in the East.

FAILED TO AGREE.—After the trial at Elko, lasting eleven days, of George W. Lewis, foreman of the Tripoli mine, for the murder of George Piccolo at Highland, Elko county, September 3d, the jury, after being out twenty-four hours failed to agree and were discharged, standing five for murder in the first degree, one for murder in the second degree and six for acquittal. The evidence showed that Lewis, after a dispute with Piccolo, avowed the intention of killing him, walked two miles at 3 o'clock in the morning, procured a revolver, returned to Piccolo's cabin and fired four shots, killing him instantly. He went away, returned again, raised the dead man's head and fired the remaining shot through his brain. The defense was insanity.

THE NEWLY ELECTED BISHOP.—The Carson Index-Union learns from a gentleman residing in Carson that the lately elected Protestant Episcopal Bishop Leonard, of Atchison, Kansas, is a very active, able and genial man and in all probability will prove a good Bishop for the diocese of Nevada and Utah. He is said to have much of the missionary spirit and has fine executive and administrative abilities. This has been the great thing desired in this diocese for many years, as Bishop Whitaker, who is otherwise one of the most excellent of men, has no such qualifications as enable him to firmly administer the Church policy. It is not yet learned whether the new Bishop has accepted the election or has been consecrated to the high office.

PROGRESSING SLOWLY.—Work on the N. & C. R. R. is progressing very slowly. Winter quarters have been erected near the McNamar place, and it is the intention of the company to continue the work as long as the weather will permit. There are now employed 150 Chinamen, 50 white men and 60 horses on the work. The grading has not yet been completed to McNamar's field.

WIND STORM.—The weather moderated somewhat yesterday, and an old-fashioned wind storm sprung up in the forenoon filling the air with dust, which the long dry weather has made rather plentiful. The wind and dust kept pedestrians off the street and the town presented a deserted look. It will probably blow up a storm and everybody will be happy, for a storm is what we need.

THE SOLDIERS' HOME.—The Commissioners appointed to select a suitable location for the Soldiers' National Home arrived in Santa Rosa Friday morning. They have visited several places near the city in company with Mayor Overton, Captain H. W. Byington, Colonel McDonald and others. The report current is that they are well pleased with Santa Rosa.

MR. O'HARA, formerly of Reno and inventor of the furnace which bears his name, has assumed charge of the assay office of the Paradise Valley Company.

A SHIPPING CENTER.—The Carson Appeal is jubilant over the fact that the Indians have made the Capital the great shipping center for their pine-nut crop. It says:

The pine-nut crop has been unusually heavy this year. Already over 1,000 sacks of pine-nuts have been shipped from this city by the V. & T. R. R. These shipments weighed about 75,000 pounds and not one-half of the pine-nuts gathered in the mountains have reached this city. The Indians hire regular teamsters with back-action wagons; and several loads that came down this week required four horses to pull them. The demand for these nuts is steadily growing in San Francisco as they are of better flavor than the peanut, do not befoul the breath, and the resinous qualities of the nut have strong curative qualities of great value to the throat and lungs. Medical men recommend them for lung troubles and the price at the Bay is steadily advancing. The Indians who gathered the crop this year are mostly Putes and Sierra Valley Indians. The nuts are sent to market already roasted and all ready to eat.

TO CARRY LOCAL MAIL.—A San Francisco dispatch says the fast train for the East over the Central Pacific began Saturday to carry mail for local points along the line. Hitherto local mails have been carried only on the train leaving that city in the afternoon.

A San Francisco dispatch says Ex-Senator Fair attended the Catholic bazaar in the Mechanics' Pavilion last Friday night, and priced a bouquet in a booth. Before the lady could answer, another lady in the back part of the booth said the price was $500. Fair looked at the speaker, said not a word, and gave his check for the amount and took the bouquet. The lady who named the price was Mrs. Fair.

"Westward the star of empire takes its way." The passenger cars of the Central Pacific Railroad Company in every train going west are jammed with people going to California. The freight traffic is enormous, and to meet the growing requirements the company are about to add ten new and powerful locomotives to their rolling stock on the Ogden division.

The San Francisco Chronicle says it has no desire to enter into a controversy with any land speculation concern, therefore it does not answer the absurd charges made by the promoter of a town-lot scheme in Tulare county, who denies that a recent item in its columns was true. It simply repeats what it said before, and what the papers of Tulare county are saying, that any man is a fool who buys town lots without seeing them or the town near which they are situated. The speculation in question is only an addition to a town, which is already laid out on a scale great enough for twenty times the population it is likely to contain during the next half century.

Much influence is being brought upon President Cleveland to appoint a Californian as Secretary of the Interior or Land Commissioner, with the view of "Swinging California into the Democratic line." Better reasons might be found for the appointment than that for John Hope. California is entitled to some recognition as a State particularly interested in many questions which come before the departments in various shapes.

Official figures from nearly all Dakota counties show the majority for division in the entire Territory will not exceed 3,000, the total vote being about 70,000. Only three counties in North Dakota voted for division, and in South Dakota fifteen counties voted against it. Only eight counties voted against prohibition in the Territory.

M. Powderly Saturday, when shown the published report of the letter purporting to have been written by him to an Indianapolis friend, said he was not going to resign this year and would make no further expression on the subject.

Charles Goslaw was hanged at San Jose, Friday, for the murder of an old man over 60 years of age, named Henry A. Grant, at Los Gatos, on the 19th of January of the present year.
